In honour of Zara's imminent and wonderful commencement into Canadian e-commerce, here is a post with one of my favourite new tops from their namesake store. As if I didn't already have enough Zara in my closet (my friends are laughing at this fact, I'm sure). Zara seems to fill the niche for the chic and affordable working woman who wants pieces off the runway, but can't quite pull out the pocketbook for them. And I've kept the best news for last: as any good Canadian online shopper knows, shipping fees and duty can be RIDICULOUS. However, you can now ship your order to any Zara store to pickup for free, ship it to your address for $5 or express it for $10. Sweetest part of the deal, in my opinion (and also quite dangerous). So get your wallets ready for Wednesday, March 6th!

Happy Monday! Have a wonderful start to the week!
